

Explanation

Both works were written originally for mechanical organs which do not exist anymore in their original state. The arrangements presented here are based on versions for piano-duet published after Mozart's death. Taking the original instrument into account, it seemed logical to arrange the works for wind ensembles.